

GIRL DIES AFTER AN ORGY; POLICE SEEK TWO MEN

Eda Wilson Expires in House to Which Companion Took Her.

SISTER ALSO THERE.

Man Disappears on His Way to Call Physician to Attend Her.

On information given by the sister of Eda Wilson, nineteen years old, who died mysteriously in the apartment house of Laura N. Bouvier, No. 107 Montague street, at 9 o'clock today, Brooklyn detectives are in search of William McElhinney, said to be treasurer of the Orpheum Theatre, and Myron Apogate, a young man living on St. Philip's street, Brooklyn.

Coroner Brewer will perform an autopsy to learn the cause of the girl's death. She, with her sister, Bella, lived at No. 56 St. John's place, Brooklyn. Both are employed as lace folders in the Davis & Quick Factory, No. 315 St. Mark's avenue.

Dined and Drank.

According to the story told by Bella to detectives and newspapermen today, the girls met the two young men by appointment last night at a cafe near Fulton street and Rockwell place.

With the dinner served to the four were numerous steins of imported beer and several highballs. It was after 1 o'clock when they started to leave. Not all of the quartet were able to call steadily. One of the young men called a motor, and they all agreed, Miss Wilson says, to go to the residence of Mrs. Bouvier.

The police learn that McElhinney left the company of Bella Wilson, who is two years older than her sister, about 4 o'clock, leaving her alone. No attention was paid to the other couple until Bella at 8 o'clock attempted to arouse her sister to go to work. She says that Eda was stretched out on the bed, moaning feebly. The younger girl whispered that she was sick and unable to leave the room.

Man Hurries Away.

Applegate, asleep on a couch, was awakened, and, according to the police, ran for a physician. He did not return, according to Miss Wilson, who then hurried to a phone and called Dr. John D. Byrne, of No. 234 Sixth avenue. Dr. Byrne arrived at the house at 9:50 o'clock to find the younger girl dead. He notified the coroner's office and also the police.

Detective Kearns then drew the story of the incident leading up to the finding of the girl's body by the physician from the older sister and set out in pursuit of the two young men from whom he hopes to learn how the girl came to be taken ill. The sister is being held as a witness.

HAYTIAN REBELS BLOCKED.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Hayti, Jan. 28.—The ports of St. Marc and Gonaives held by the rebels are blocked by four warships, half of Hayti's navy, and cut off on shore by surrounding troops. The Government continues to send troops to those points.

HUNGRY FOR WORK, THEY PARADE CITY

One Thousand Unemployed Men Make Stir in Streets of New Britain, Conn.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Jan. 28.—Over 1,000 men, all of whom are unemployed, paraded through the streets of this city today, the leader carrying a banner bearing the inscription, "Parade of Hungry People Looking for Work." It was explained by the leaders of the demonstration that "hungry" in this case meant that the men were hungry for something to do, not that they were suffering from the pangs of physical hunger. Foreigners comprised the majority of the marchers.

TOLD THE POLICE A JOOT PLAN FOR $20,000 SWINDLE

Owen R. Brownfield Causes the Arrest of William S. Dunn.

William S. Dunn, fifty years old, who says he is an agent and lives in West Thirty-eighth street, near Seventh avenue, was arrested today by Owen R. Brownfield, a real estate dealer, of Fairhance, Pa., with having attempted to swindle him out of $20,000 by an old game in connection with the races. Magistrate Butts held Dunn in $1,000 bail until tomorrow afternoon and discharged Williams.

The men were arrested last Friday afternoon by Detectives McConville and Kelly, of the Detective Bureau, after Mr. Brownfield had come on from Fairhance and told Deputy Police Commissioner Woods of the alleged scheme to defraud him.

Commissioner Woods detailed McConville and Kelly to trail Brownfield.

BANKER MOROSINI ILL AT RIVERSIDE.

No Alarm Felt by His Family—His Condition Said to Be Improving.

Giuseppe P. Morosini, the banker, is confined to his room at his beautiful estate, Elmhurst, at Riverside, N. Y., and is under treatment for an injury to the head received by a fall last spring. His condition is not such as to give alarm, and members of the family say he is improving.

Mr. Morosini is seventy years old. He was born in Naples. He was on the latter's advice that he engaged in the banking business. His younger brother, Giulio, is a well known on the Speedway, and is an expert horse-woman.

TWO-CENT FARE LAW INVALID IN PENNSYLVANIA

High Court of the State Affirms Former Ruling in Favor of Railroads.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—The two-cent railroad fare law now in force in Pennsylvania was today declared unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court, which handed down an opinion affirming the decision of the Common Pleas Court of Philadelphia rendered last September.

The vote of the court was 4 to 3, the dissenting opinion being handed down by Justice Mestrezat.

The two-cent fare law was enacted by the last Legislature, the bill passing both houses by a practically unanimous vote. The railroad companies had vigorously, and after it became a law, the Pennsylvania Railroad instituted suit in the Common Pleas Court of Philadelphia from enforcing the law. The railroad contended that it was unconstitutional in that it was unreasonable and confiscatory, and the court in a decision sustained the company's contention.

The County of Philadelphia then took the case to the State Supreme Court, and on January 17, 1934, the court, representing the State of Pennsylvania, participated in the proceedings and made the principal argument before the lower and higher courts against the railroad's contention.

Other railroads brought similar action in several counties of the State, but the Pennsylvania's suit was the only one to reach the Supreme Court.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD Bulletin.

THE 18-HOUR TRAIN TO CHICAGO.

It runs over the four-tracked line of the Pennsylvania System to Pittsburgh and thence over its double-tracked line to Chicago. It is the premier train not only of the System, but of the world, and every other movement on the line defers to it. Its record for punctuality has been marvellous, considering the distance covered, the time made, the traffic it must meet and pass, and the varying conditions of weather which it may encounter in its course from the lowlands of the Atlantic over the mountains to the flats of the Lakes.

It is run to save the time of the busy man and to give him the benefit of off-hours on the road and business hours at its destination. If an emergency required a special train no better time would perhaps be made and there would only be a change in the hours of arrival and departure. To Chicago between suns is rapid going, but the ease of it is its most wonderful feature. All the conveniences of the modern hotel and the club are at the passengers' command, and the smooth run over the magnificent road-bed almost belies the speed.

The Pennsylvania Special leaves New York an hour after the banks close and arrives in Chicago before they open next morning.
